

P.C.L. Industries

(Continued from page 1)

Janitorial Supply Co. and the Party House, all of which for the past several years have centered mainly around two locations - 210 and 185 Medford Ave., Patchogue.

But that's getting ahead of the story, which began in 1954, when Philip C. Liguori Sr., a native Patchogue, was thrown out of work when Evans Amityville Dairy, which he had served as a route driver for 23 years, suddenly went out of business.

With only a small floor-waxing machine and unlimited determination, he established the Phil Liguori Contract Cleaning Service in Patchogue. Incidentally, he still serves some of his original customers, including Joseph Hanlon and Robert Robertaccio.

In 1960, as the business progressed, he formed the Suffolk Janitorial Supply Co., which found a waiting need. In 1969, he was joined by his son, Philip Jr., who had just graduated from Adelphi University with a Bachelor's degree in Business Administration.

Five years ago, the Liguori organization expanded into an additional field - party supplies - and established Party House, which has since been operated from 185 Medford Ave.

Meanwhile, the senior Liguori's two daughters, Mary Ann, a Suffolk Community College graduate, and Deborah, a C.W. Post College graduate, joined the staff.

The present corporate setup finds Liguori Sr. as chairman of the board, Liguori Jr. as president, Mary Ann Liguori Fath as vice-president of Suffolk Janitorial Supply, and Deborah Liguori as vice-president of Party House.

Three years ago, Suffolk Janitorial Supply opened branches in Riverhead and in Port Jefferson. Recently, two independent cleaning firms were acquired - Pyramid Cleaners & Maintenance, a 27-year-old Nassau company, and Maytag Building Maintenance Co., a 50-year-old Suffolk outfit, and were established as separate divisions of the Liguori firm.

Incidentally, the Liguoris are presently negotiating for acquiring a janitorial supply firm in Nassau and two additional cleaning businesses in Suffolk.

In expanding its horizons beyond the Suffolk boundary, the firm is contemplating the opening of several Party House retail outlets, including one in Nassau.

Yannacone Charges

(Continued from page 1)

water supplies in Eastern Suffolk.

Before the resulting emergency had subsided, 1,600 homes on the North and South Forks were found to have been affected. Each has since been equipped with an activated charcoal filter installed either by Union Carbide or the F.M.C. Co. By late 1979, the sale of Temik and Furadan had been banned in Suffolk.

Trent said that county health agency tests have found evidence of Temik as far west as Mt. Sinai on the North Shore and in the Center Moriches area on the South Shore; Carbofuran as far west as Wading River.

Besides Manorville, other elementary schools, whose drinking water was contaminated, are those in Laurel, Cutchogue, East Cutchogue, Peconic and Sagaponack, Trent said.

The far-reaching effect of the toxic insecticides is indicated by the fact that a few of the Suffolk Water Authority (WA) - deep wells have been affected. Walter Hazlitt, WA executive director, said, "slight traces of Temik have been found in our system" at Mt. Sinai and, on the South Fork, in Southampton and East Hampton.

Incidentally, Manorville's other elementary school on Dayton Ave., is served by the WA system and was not affected by the insecticide contamination.

In accusing town officials over the years of "ineptitude," Yannacone hinted at the fact that Manorville is in the center of the "Pine Barrens," the site of one of the most important sources of supply in Suffolk's underground fresh water reservoir.

Said Yannacone, "The town has spent thousands of dollars in legal fees and has given up millions in tax revenue to protect the fresh water supply in the Manorville area from developers, and now sits idly by and lets other towns and multinational conglomerate corporations destroy a unique and irreplaceable hydrological resource treasure."

Yannacone also advocated that testing of the water in the eastern Brookhaven area be made monthly by the WA, but Hazlitt said the WA testing is limited to its own system, and that the county health agency "has the capacity to do such countywide testing."

As for the "ineptitude," with which he is charging town officials,

Yannacone said "it would be the kind that destroyed the public water supply in Nassau and brought us the Southwest Suffolk Sewer District, the Shoreham nuclear power plant and the Multi-Town Solid Waste Authority - the triple-crown of Suffolk's economic catastrophies."

Brookhaven Town Supervisor Henrietta Acampora said the matter was recently brought to her attention and that of the Town Board. "I have scheduled a meeting with Town Planning, Environmental and Development Commissioner Vincent Donnelly, Town Environment Director Thomas Kramer and the town board to discuss the problem and its resolution."

Acampora said she was informed that Union Carbide, which has been marketing the chemical, "was to be taking necessary measures to correct the situation, but that the use of the chemical, Temik, was never banned by the Federal Government."

She expressed the hope that the forthcoming meeting will develop action that the town could possibly take, although, she added, "the town is not responsible for what has occurred."

P.S. Neither the Union Carbide nor F.M.C. Co. is paying for the Manorville school's bottled water, which is purchased in 600 one-gallon lots. The school district is picking up the tab.

The meeting referred to by Supervisor Acampora was held Wednesday morning as a step toward tackling the problem at its source. Declaring that the Town officials will call for more frequent monitoring in the affected area, the Supervisor said the situation is being closely watched.

Town Environmental Protection Director Thomas Kramer reported that his Division will remain in contact with the Suffolk County Health Services Department "regarding contamination of groundwater wells within the Town. DEP staff will periodically examine and record pertinent information from SCDHS sample results and monitoring well location maps."

LEGAL NOTICE

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that the Board of Trustees of the Incorporated Village of Patchogue, New York will meet at the Municipal Building, 14 Baker Street, Patchogue, New York on Monday, January 24th, 1983 at 8:00

An Editorial

Tradition

We read with great interest the editorialized Brookhaven Town Hall, w

The committee offers several future site for the Town Hall. Hee tee's statement that "The Patchogue up its well-oiled publicity machine the new building" in Patchogue

Centralized location is not the pointed out in these columns in Babylon and Islip among the Halls. Furthermore, New York tainly do not have their capital

Patchogue's basic argument is Town Government since early in tradition, which for many years Reunion Association, one of the Village Board

(Continued from page 1)

for parking on sidewalks, in loading zones and at bus stops, and double-parking and for parking the wrong direction.

The new schedule also calls for an increase from $10 to $15 parking in driveways and for violations of the 20-minute and 15-minute parking zones.

To cope with the flagrant improper parking on Columbia near the State Unemployment Office, the board increased the fines for violations from $2 to $15.

As for increasing the fines, it is noted that in cases where a summons is ignored, it costs the Village

A
For

Ben Schifferson (left), who incineration to literature, was Village Board meeting, at which presenting him with a Board Village employ. Ben, who is Department, began his mun

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice to Bidder

DAVID H. GILMARTIN

200 NORTH SEA ROAD
P. O. BOX 1281
SOUTHAMPTON, N. Y. 11968

PHONE (516) 283-1800

APR 26 1982

4/24/82

Victor J. Yannacone, Jr., Esq. -
62 Rose Avenue, Patchogue, N.Y., 11772.

Dear Victor, Jr. -

For your scrap book, I'm enclosing a press release cut from a recent newspaper. Congratulations - and I do hope that the reporter accurately described the issue and the result.

As Special Town Counsel for our Southampton Trustees, I'm defending a lawsuit by the State & D.E.C. in which State claims ownership of all of our fish in Southampton Town freshwaters and sole right to manage and control our fisheries as to season, size of fish, quantity of catch etc.

I'm pleased you were able to have State agree that your Trustees own the wetlands in your Town - other than those in private ownership.

Feathers for your cap!

If you have anything in writing to confirm State's acknowledgment of Trustees' ownership, I'd love to have a copy if you would

Confirm title of wetlands

By FRANK MOONEY

The Brookhaven Town Board of Trustees' claim of the right, title and interest to thousands of acres of tidal wetlands in Brookhaven has been officially acknowledged by the state.

Preliminary steps have been taken at the state's request for the trustees to convey title by quit-claim deed to 18 acres of Blue Point tidal wetlands. The acquisition is part of the state Wetlands Acquisition program, designed to preserve such properties from development, it was explained.

Special Town Attorney Victor J. Yannacone Jr., who represented the trustees in the discussions concerning the trustees' claim to the title, said the resolution has been requested by the state Law Department's Martin J. Siegel, associate attorney in charge of land acquisition.

Yannacone praised the state's effort to preserve the wetlands, considering that in the three centuries between 1650 and 1950, Brookhaven lost about 15,000 acres of wetlands through filling, and that almost the same number of acres was lost in the same manner during the 15-year building boom beginning about 1950.

Under the state legislation, the remaining tidal wetlands are being acquired, mostly by purchase, to be held in perpetuity for the public.

Ten years ago, the state imposed a moratorium on any further filling in or construction upon tidal wetlands so that such areas found to be ecologically significant could be mapped, all as part of the state Wetlands Acquisition Act, it was explained. The Brookhaven trustees were organized over 300 years